

MAY 13-14, 2011

oward an East Asian Community: A Myth or Reality?

East Asia is in transition as the world's center of gravity is being shifted from West to East, from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Many scholars and pundits have argued that the 21st century will be an Asian century in which East Asia will be a pivotal player. But what kind of economic and security order will emerge in East Asia that could impact the world? Is the idea of building an East Asian Community still alive after the recent crises and disasters in the region? This timely international conference assembles a group of prominent scholars from major East Asian countries to discuss the various aspects of East Asian Community including its potentials as well as challenges.

May 13, 2011

Friday

09:00 - 12:30

14:00 - 17:30

May 14, 2011

Saturday

09:00 - 13:00

Venue:

*HG01 Lecture Theatre, Ho Yin Convention Centre,
University of Macau*

For more information, please contact

Ms. Claudy Lio at 8397-8321, claudyl@umac.mo

澳門大學
UNIVERSIDADE DE MACAU
UNIVERSITY OF MACAU

Center for China Studies
National Taiwan University